Take One

BY FRED BERNSTEIN

Now that Carly Simon reportedly has separated from longtime beau Al (ex-Dynasty) Corley, he is out as the romantic lead in her new It Happens Every Day video. Instead Carly considered casting Matt Dillon, whom she found eating in the lower Manhattan diner where the video was to be taped. But figuring Matt, 20, to be too young, Carly, 38, settled on Richard and Paul Garcia, 34-year-old twins who own the restaurant. In the video, Carly steamily makes out with Richard, a model-actor with the Wilhelmina agency. Then Paul appears and Carly turns her attention to him. Seems like the next best thing to having Boys in the Trees.

Judging from her video, she won't be Carly Corley.
